convention. It is not yet known whether the citizens will call a primary.

So far candidates have not been discussed much. Undoubtedly Mayor Harvey could have the nomination on the Democratic or Citizens ticket, but he refused to go on record as being a candidate. His friends, however, think that with the proper support he could be induced to take another term.

Runaway Accident

Injures Three Boys

Vance Nelson, aged 11, Wm. Nelson, aged 9, sons of Henson Nelson, and Vivian Bezzant, a nine-year-old son of Alfred Bezzant, had a runaway accident Tuesday that resulted in fracturing the skull of the Bezzant boy, causing the younger Nelson boy to suffer a concussion of the brain and badly spraining the wrist of the other boy. The doctor says that all will recover, though their cases looked serious for a time. As the boys turned west from the Mercantile Company's store, they hit the horse, who broke a singletree and caused him to commence running and kicking. The boys climbed to the rear of the buggy and were thrown or fell out. The two who were picked up unconscious were carried to W. R. Frampton's home and a doctor sent for.

Herron is Awarded

Water and Damages

An important case was decided Tuesday by Judge Morgan when he awarded O. F. Herron two shares of water and $48 damages for being out of the use of them for the past three years. Herron sued for 4 shares of water and $150 damages.

The city's contention was that about twelve years ago Herron had some of his shares transferred from his farm to the orchard. For several years the sub-watermasters continued giving him water in both places, and when the error was discovered Mr. Herron brought suit. The courts ruling that the long use of the water gave Mr. Herron title, establishes a rule that will cause trouble in some other irrigation companies.

More Thoughts From Pleasant Grove Citizen

What can we do
That our beloved town,
May steadily grow
And not be left alone.

There is a way,
With hope in sight
That we, some day
Will look more bright.

There surely is a future,
But it depends on you.
To make a lovely picture,
More prominent all through.

The pioneers of past,
With faithfulness and care,
Did labor to the last
For comfort which we share.

Who is to blame,
If yet we lack
A golden fame
And deeper track.

Fake hold and start
This noble work:
Do well your part
And never shirk.

I need not tell
What can be done;
A hint is well
For any one.

Yet, if your wants
Are come to pass,
There are some points
In the Parents' Class.

ARE THERE ANY JUD SHAW'S HERE?

Jud Shaw sold shoes and sealing wax, and lamps, fishpoles and glue, tobacco, candles, gum, and tacks, sickers, and sardines, too; dry goods and hams were in his line; he dealt in peas and beans; he kept the general store, in fine—sold overalls and jeans; but Jud, somehow, he wasn't wise—"Couldn't afford to advertise." Not that he harbored any grudge against his home town sheet; he was, as anyone might judge, a kindly man to meet; his customers he treated fair, and yet he prospered not; his goods were honest, one would swear—he simply was forgot; for Jud, somehow, he wasn't wise—"Couldn't afford to advertise."

Mail order firms from out of town, much wiser in their day, paid liberally for their renown, and gathered in the hay; their catalogues went everywhere; they advertised for trade; their name went forth with trumpets blare, and ah! the coin they made; couldn't afford, they were wise, couldn't afford NOT to advertise.

Now, Jud's stuff it was just as good; his prices were the same; the loss was ours; he simply WOULD not spread abroad his name; though townfolks might have much preferred in their home mart to buy, of Jud Shaw they have never heard—you know, reason why, for Jud, somehow, wasn't wise—"Couldn't afford to advertise!"

GOOD ADVICE

The following is clipped from Field's Seed Sense, the bright, interesting, monthly agricultural publication of the Henry Field Seed Co., of Shenandoah, Iowa, which has a large general circulation throughout the U. S.

What Eldridge Says About It
"If you are not giving your local newspaper liberal support you should do so by all means. Hundreds of little country papers are merely existing and the most of them would be a great deal better if they had the whole-souled support of the community."

Of course, the subscription list will never make them rich, but if you have something you want to sell, give your local paper a chance to advertise it for you.

Drop in and tell the editor that you like his paper and tell him why you like it. Of course, you may have to think it over quite awhile before you can tell him just why you can compliment him, but do your best. If he is half a man he will run a good ad for you and will give you a little hunch in the locals besides.

It will help you and it will help him, and it will be a good thing for the community in which you live. Whether you realize it or not, the local newspaper is controlling the public opinion to a great extent."—Al Eldridge.

"Mr. Jones wants a window pane 12 inches by 14," remarked young Patrick Mulrooney, entering the glazier's shop.

In the shop was a smart young assistant who wanted to have a joke with Pat.

"Haven't any that size," he replied gravely. "Will one 14 inches by 12 do?"

Pat looked thoughtfully for a minute then he replied:
"He's wantin' it at once, and that's the only shon in town. Give me one of them. P'raps if we put it in sideways, no one'll notice."—London Answers.

People who try to work their friends and acquaintances are soon found out. A great many people in this world, don't like publicity. No, no, not to hear them tell it, yet at the same time they will sit up all night to prepare the copy.

If you need rooms when in the city for the State Fair or Conference, or any other time give the Newhouse Hotel or the Hotel James a call. Their ads appear in this paper and both hotels will treat you right.

Now is a good time to drop in and settle up for your little home paper—the best country paper published in the state. If you are too busy to call—mail us a check or postal order to business office, American Fork, and receipt will be sent you by return mail. DO IT NOW.

MODESTY

When every pool in Eden was a mirror That unto Eve her dainty charms proclaimed: She went undraped without a single fear, or Thought that she had need to be ashamed.

'Twas only when she'd eaten of the apple That she became inclined to be a prude; And found that ever more she'd have to grapple With the much debated problem of the nude.

Thereafter she devoted her attention, Her time and all her money on her clothes; And that was the beginning of convention, And modesty as well, so I suppose.

Reaction came about in fashions recent: Now girls conceal so little from the men; It would seem that in the name of all that's decent, Some one ought to pass the apple 'round again.

Those nifty Fall and Winter Suits at Chipman's for young ladies, married women and school students are unsurpassed. 25-11
